

Polk is an American original, crafting audio experiences that have been delivering authentic sound since 1972

On a quiet overgrown street in Baltimore, a couple of young guys turned a love of great sound into a crazy idea. The idea became a quest. The quest became a company. Their love for music inspired them to make great sound available to as many people as possible.

Forty four years later Polk is the best selling loudspeaker in the United States with products in over 10 million homes.

Now you can discover how Polk will transform your entertainment anywhere you want great sound. We want your movies to be more thrilling, your music more real, your parties more fun. We're still on that quest. We're still in love.

